AURORA

Aurora

Fort Payne High School

Fort Payne, Alabama

1962

Foreword

"All the world's a stage, And all the men and women merely players; They have their exits and their entrances; And one man in his time plays many parts, His acts being seven ages. At first the infant, Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms; Then the whining school-boy, with his satchel And shining morning face, creeping like snail Unwillingly to school: . . ."

For some, this 1962 edition of the AURORA will represent the completion of their second act; for others, it will be only another scene of that act.

We, the AURORA Staff, hope that throughout the other five acts this book will relive events and scenes in the second act of your life.

Dedication

To the students of Fort Payne High School, to their unconquerable school spirit, to all the school organizations, to all the fun and learning of our school years, we, the AURORA Staff of 1961-62, dedicate this edition of the AURORA.

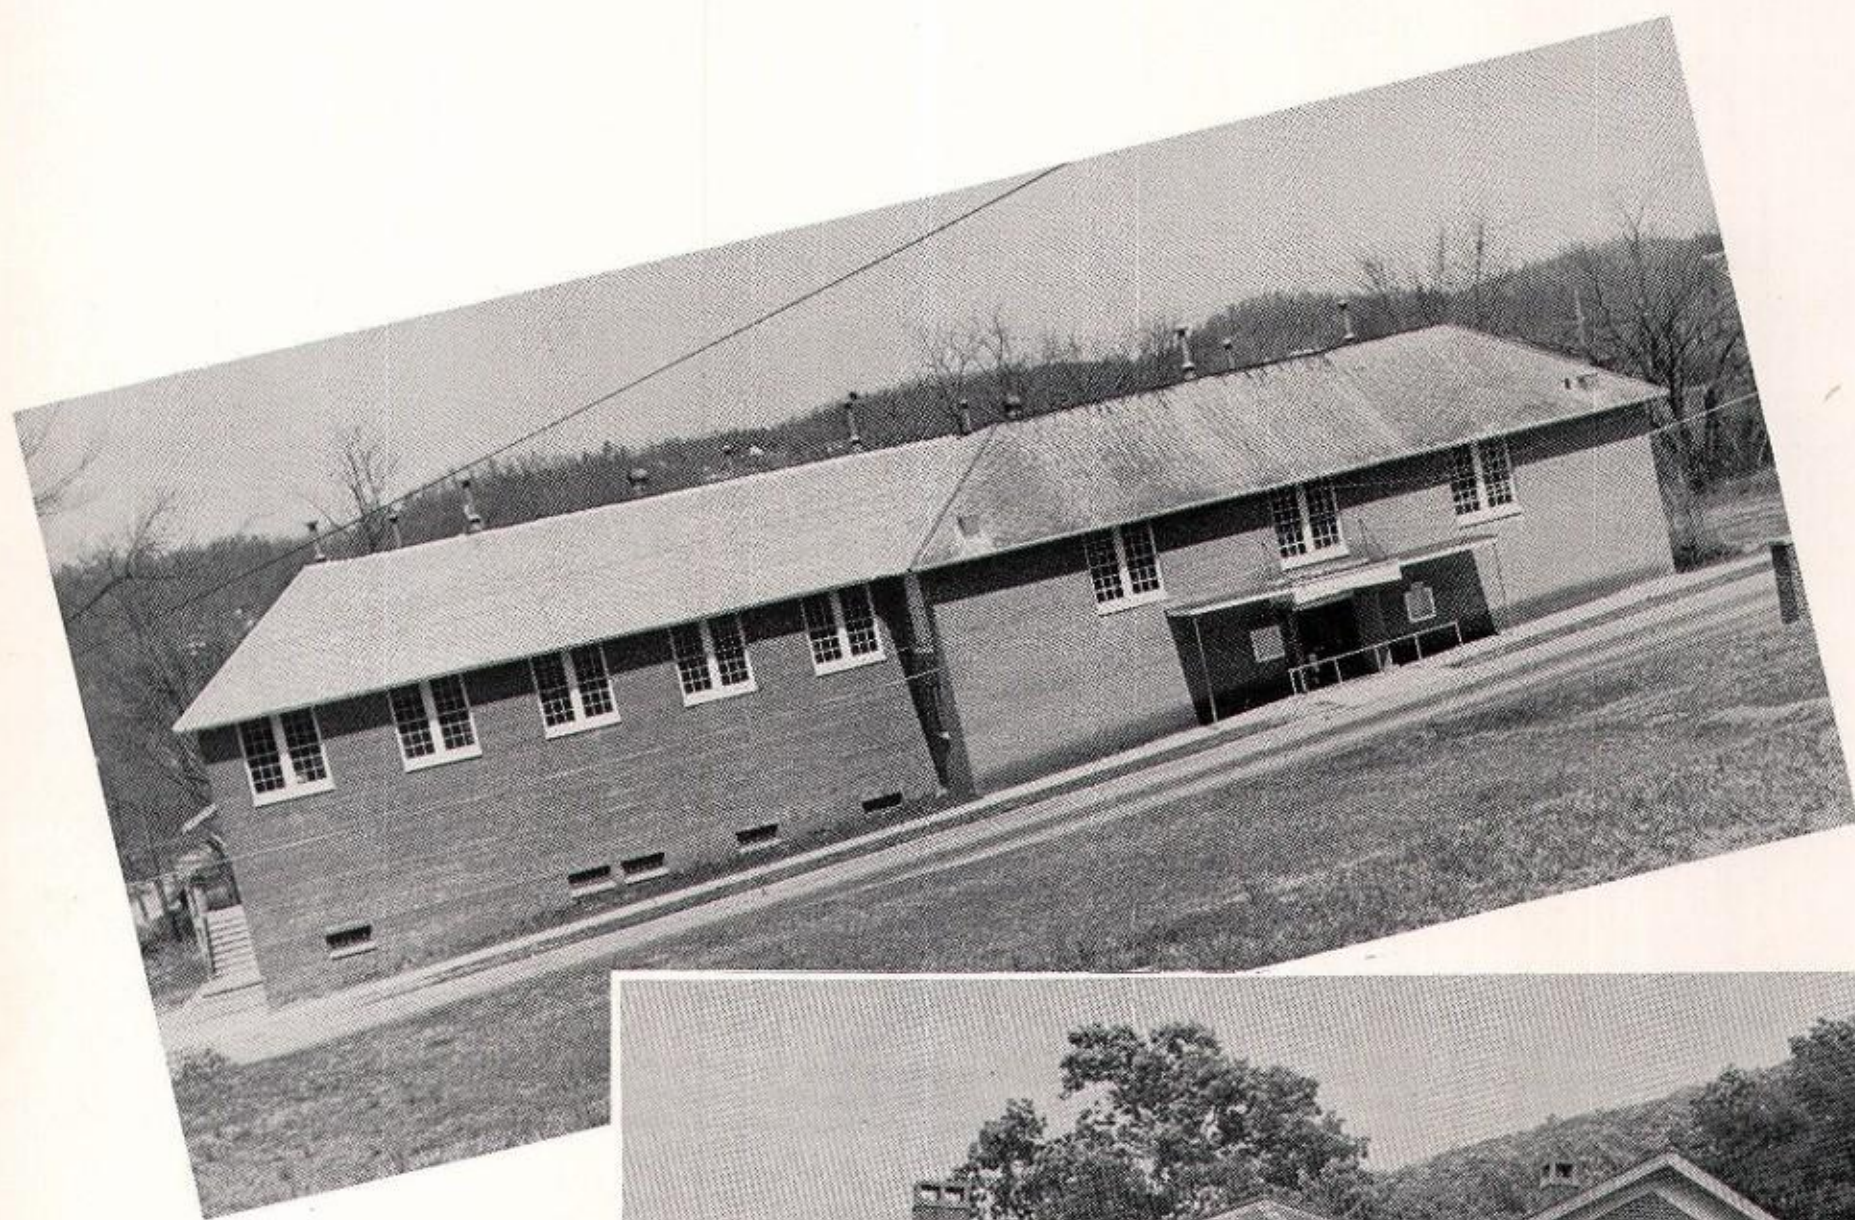

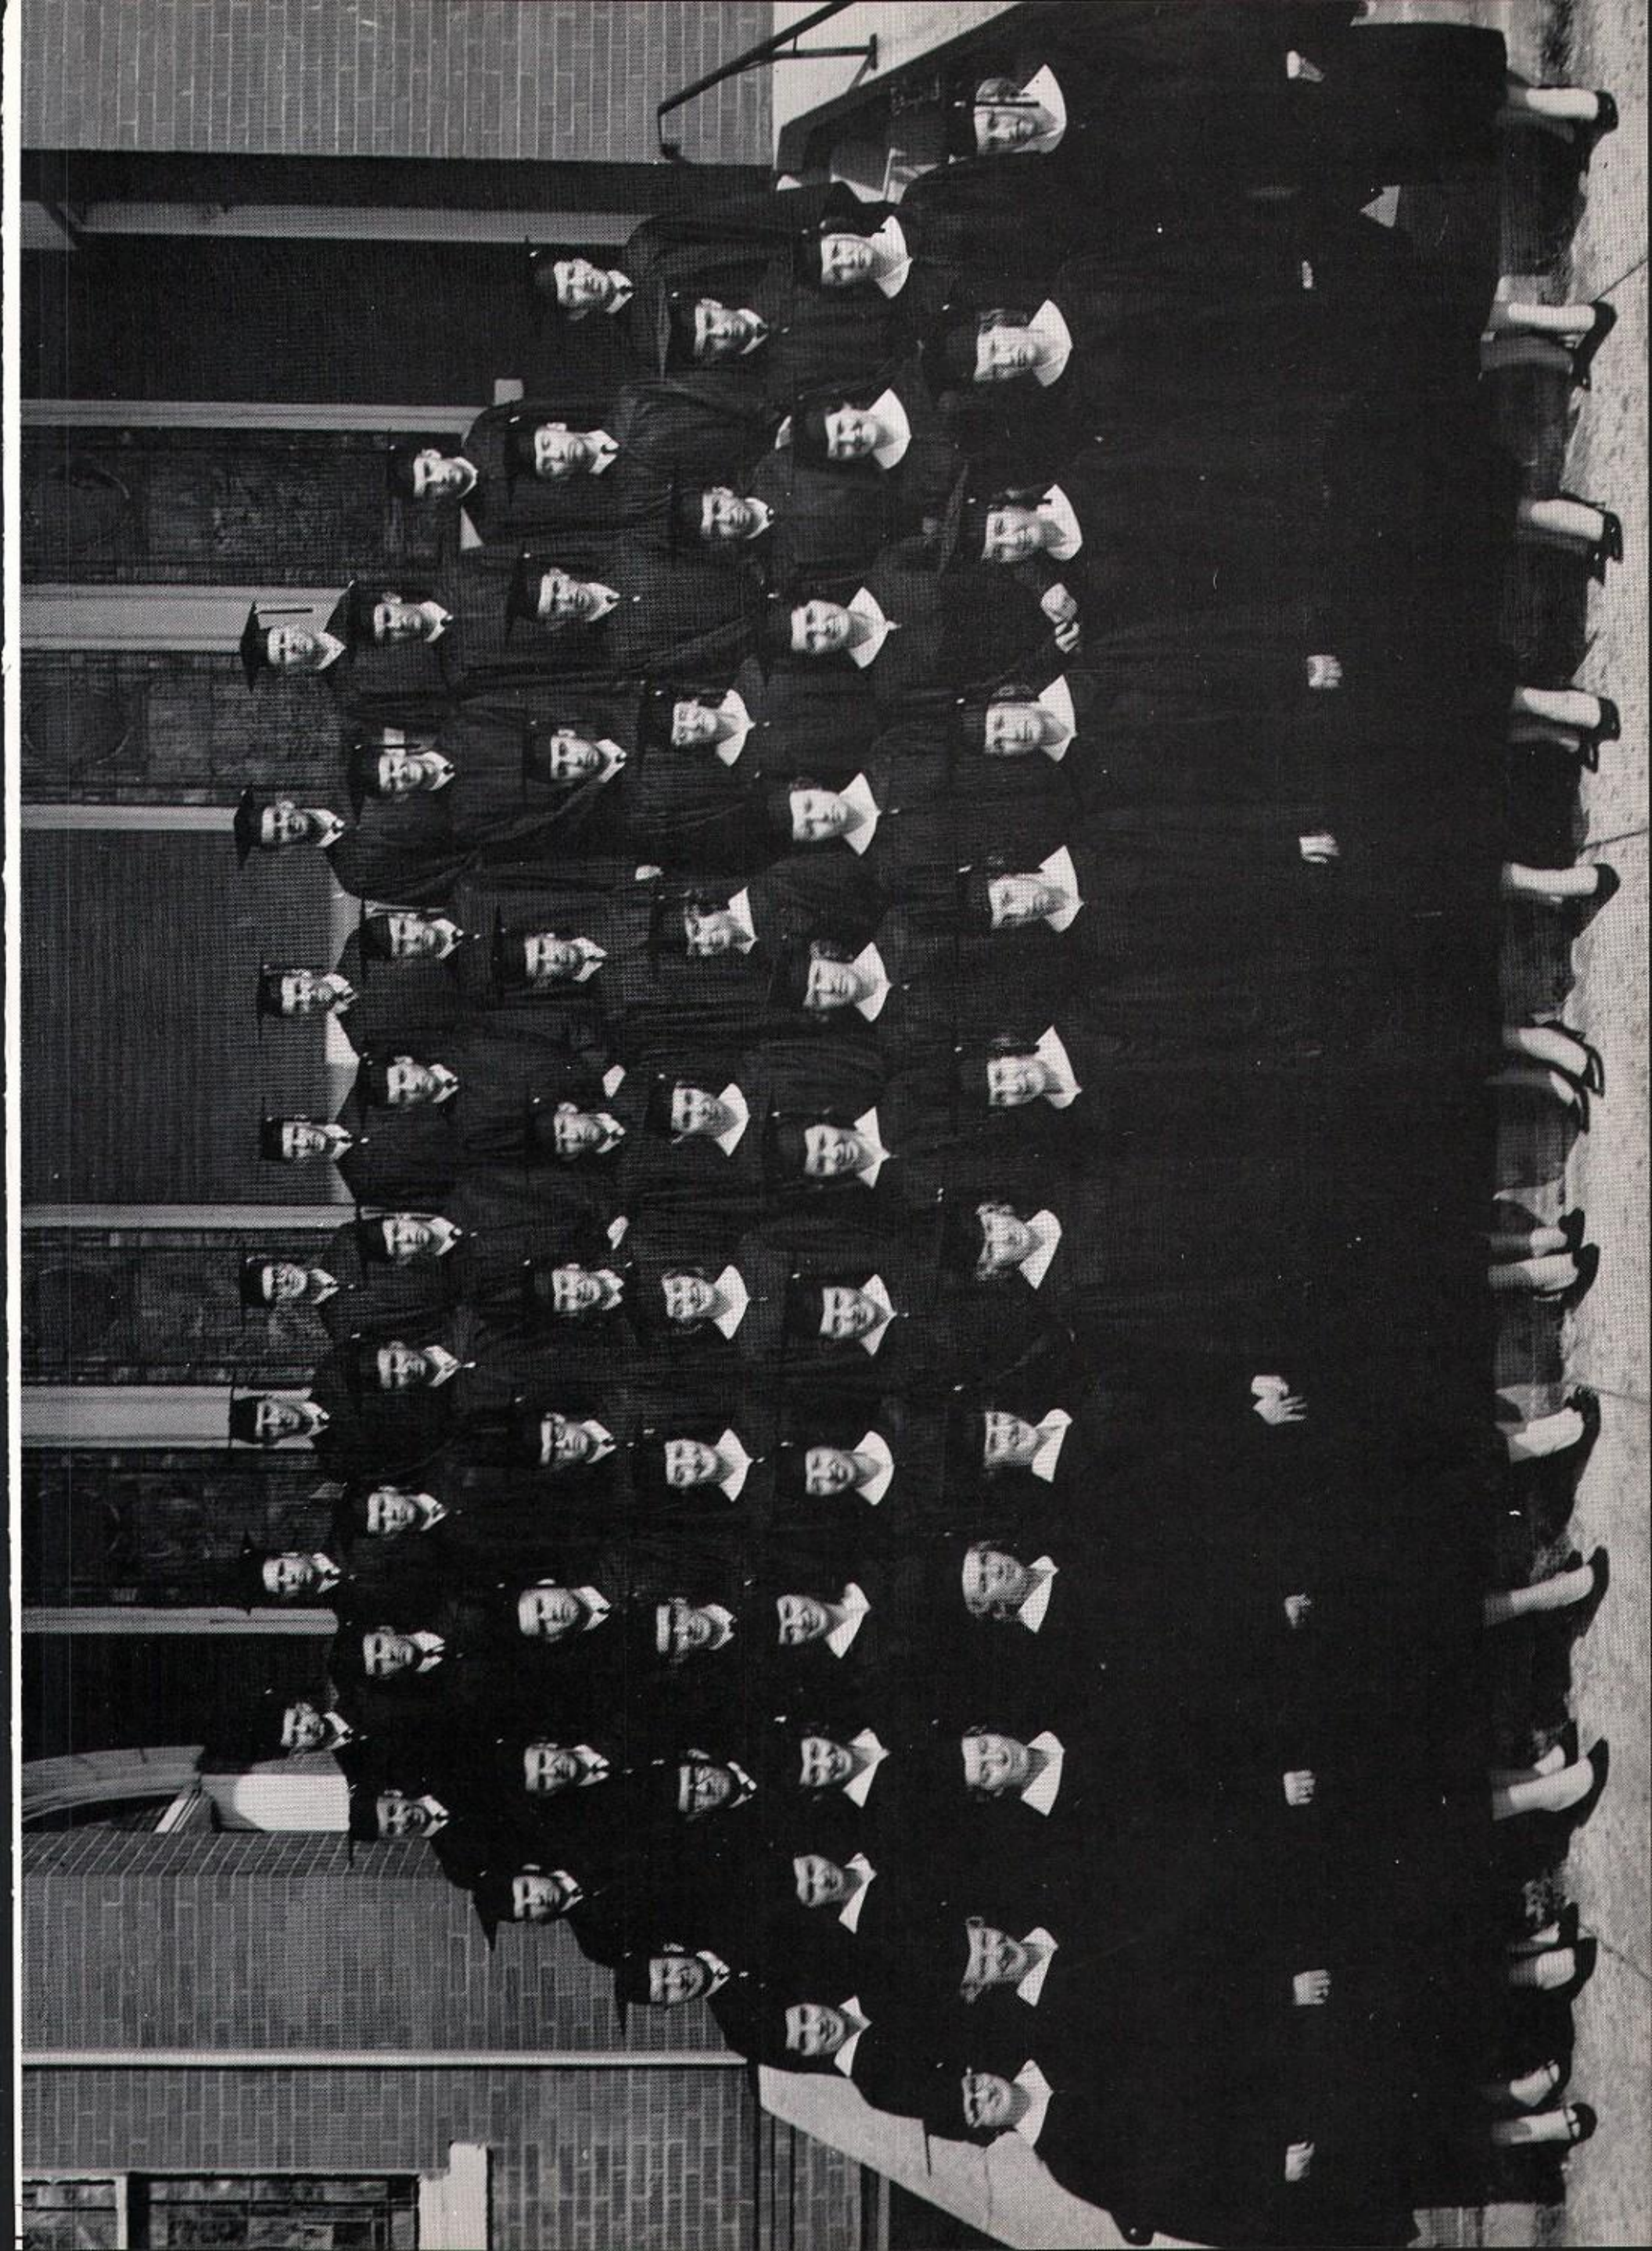

Message

This has been a very pleasant year. As we reflect upon the many achievements of the last few months, we understand why. Surely, there is no deeper pleasure than the feeling of satisfaction that comes with a task well done. And when the workers are as cheerful, friendly, and helpful as ours have been, the work becomes a joy in itself.

For this year of accomplishment, fellowship, and pleasure, then, I extend congratulations to The AURORA Staff, the student body, the teachers, and all who have made this year a success.

The Diversified Occupations Program is a two-year course for students who want to train in a particular trade-type occupation. Students in this program work a half day on the job and attend school the other half of the day. Many graduates of this program remain on the same job after graduation. This is an excellent way for young people to train themselves for the future while still in high school. Students must be in the eleventh grade and sixteen years of age.
